Practices & Industries

- Workers' Compensation Claims

Overview

Alexis joined Wiedner & McAuliffe's St. Louis office in 2018 after clerking with the firm during law school. Her practice is focused on the representation of Employers, Insurers, and Third Party Administrators in all aspects of workers' compensation defense.

Prior to clerking with Wiedner & McAuliffe, Alexis was a Faculty Fellow at SLU Law and worked as a Rule 13 certified student attorney at Legal Services of Eastern Missouri.

While in law school, Alexis was a member of the Community Development Clinic, and held externships with in-house counsel for both corporations and large non-profits. She was involved with the Women Law Students' Association, and held executive board positions including President, Vice President, and 1L Representative. She was also a member of Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity, a Student Mentor and an Admissions Student Ambassador.

As an undergraduate, Alexis majored in legal studies and history at Saint Louis University and was a member of Phi Alpha Theta Honor Society and the Student Government Association.

Community Involvement

Alexis is involved with local philanthropic organizations in the St. Louis area, including Project Wake Up, Ronald McDonald House, and the Humane Society of Missouri.
